

The Maori

The Maori ( 1909 ):

It was a foggy, drizzling night on 5 August 1909. This British cargo steam ship was carrying explosives, crockery, glassware, sewing machines musical instruments and water piping from London to New Zealand. Thirty-two lives were lost when she sank after striking a rock. Today the Maori is largely intact and surrounded by kelp, fish and crayfish.

Max Depth: 25 meters

Boat Dive